GAVE UP THE FIGHT

Congressmen on Record on the Silver Question

HOW THEY VOTED ON THE ISSUE

mendiate consideration of the or-To this Mr. Tracy (N. Y.) objected he ground that it was not in order I after the journal had been read.

The Speaker Securities.

Speaker Orion, stating the question, called attention to the rule which governed the receipt of communications from the senate, that they should not be in order while the journal was being read, while the year and nays were being called, or while the house was dividing upon any question. There was no such restriction upon the right of the committee on rules to call up a report. Not finding any he had conptrued the rule to permit the order regarding the effect bill to be taken up at the time it was. He desired only, however, to enforce the rules as he found them; if the house desired to change them, or was not satisfied with his construction of them, it could do so and he would was not satisfied with his construction of them, it could do so and he would enforce them according to the construction adopted by the house.

After some discussion, during which life. Cleveland's former law partner, Daniel Lockwood, of Buffalo, declared that the rules of this house "are more prottrary than the rules of the Fifty-lirst congress as applied by Speaker Reed," Mr. Tracey's appeal was tabled by a vote of 183 to 13.

A Democratic Battle.

The republicans took no part in the rontroversy, the contast being confined entirely to the silver and anti-silver wings of the domocratic party. It was marked by great confusion and intense feeling, the passages at arms between the two being attended with considerable bitterness.

Another Appeal.

After the announcement of the vote on his appeal Mr. Tracy raised the question of consideration. This was promptly declared out of order by the speaker, to the apparent astonishment of Mr. Tracy, who electrons "Why, Mr. Speaker!" In of his demand, Mr. Trucy sinteenth rule, which, he as-pave to any member the right the question of consideration and the sixteenth rule, which are the right in rains the question of consideration apon any matter. The apoaker explained that under the rules as he haderstood them the motion made by the gentleman from New York was fillatory and therefore out of order.

From the ruling of the chair Mr. Tracy took an appeal.

Fracy took an appeal.

Again tentained.

Mr. Catchings moved to lay the appeal on the table.

Mr. Rayner desired to be permitted to read a decision by Speaker Carliale which, he said directly controverted a railing of the chair, but Mr. Catchings refused to withdraw and a vote was ardered, under a call for yeas and maya. The vote on laying Mr. Tracy's appeal on the table was: Yeas, 176; para at rays, SI.

Refused to Recommit.

Speaker Crisp then stated Mr. Catchings' motion to take up the order and demand for the previous question.

Mr. Tracy then moved to recommit the order to the committee on rules, with instructions to amend by changing the date for the consideration of the Bland bill from March 2s to December 12. The motion was defeated—year, 70; mays, 202.

Gave Up the Fight.

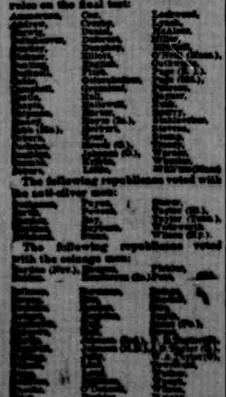

As soon as this motion was defeated the anti-silver men gave up the fight and the question came directly before the house upon the adoption of Mr. Catchings' resolution.

Raif an hour was consumed by each side in brisk five minute speeches, one of which was made by ex-Speaker Reed in his most sarreactic vein.

Vote on the Resolution.

After further debate, participated in y Mesers. Helicipans, Townsend and loutelle, the year and nays were orered and resulted in the adoption of he resolution—year, 190; mays. 54.

The following democrate voted gainst the report of the committee on size on the final test:

mit, with instructions to increase the aggregate from $128,000,000 to $144.900,000. The motion was defeated, the bill passed and the house adjourned.

NARROW ESCAPES.

MILWAUEER, Musch &-The n

Min. Wavens. March & The most disastrous fire in West Superior's history came to an end at 12:20 Monday, when the walls fell and the Allouez block, corner of Eighteenth and Tower streets, the finest apartment house in the city, was completely wiped out and mineteen families rendered homeless.

The block was four stories high and contained twenty-sight apartments, all of which were occupied with one exception. The tenements opened on the central corridor, and when the house was thoroughly alarmed twenty women found their escape out off in that direction. There were not three men in the house, and the women becoming panic stricken took to the fire cesape, where they were huddled with children in their arms when the fremen arrived. The fire escape was a clumay affair, and the women would not descend until the flames bursting through the windows forced them to. So far as known no one is missing and the only injuries are from jumping to the ground. All are of minor character. The losses will reach $150,000, the tenants saving nothing. The building was owned by Mrs. E. L. Belknap, of New York, and was valued at $85,000 and insured in eleven companies for $40,000. The total insurance held by tenants is $16,000.

Werd That He Would He Pleased to Begin Hestilities at Any Time.

LONDON, March 8.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Standard recounts a stardling story in connection with the speech made by the emperor of Germany at the recent banquet at Brandenburg. The correspondent says that a gentleman who was present at the Brandenburg banquet remarked to the emperor: "Your majesty should not forget Russia." To this remark Emperor William is said to have retorted: "Til pulverize Russia."

When Count Von Schouvaloff, the Russian minister at Berlin, was appraised of this remarkable utterance he immediately acquainted M. de Giers, the Russian minister of foreign affairs, with the facts in the case, who repeated the remark of Emperor William to the car. The car then summoned to his presence Gen. Von Schweinitz, the German ambassador at St. Petersburg, and after recounting to him the statement made by M. de Giers, said: "Tell your emperor when he begins pulverizing. I will throw half a million men across the frontier with the greatest of pleasure."

A World's Fair Appropriation.
The bill appropriating money for the World's Columbian exposition, prepared by President Baker and the legislative committee of the Columbian legislative committee of the Columbian commission, was introduced in the house by Mr. Durborow (IIL) and referred by the speaker to the committee on the Columbian exposition. Under the present rules of the house there is no public introduction of either bills or petitions. They are simply dropped in a box for that purpose after being referred to the appropriate committee by the speaker. As finally introduced the bill appropriates 26,850,000.

HAS IT IN CHARGE

The Behring Sea Treaty Laid Before the Senate

PROMPT ACTION TO BE TAKEN

The United States Will Insist on the Re newal of the Modus Vivendi Before Ratifying It.

Washington, March & The Behring sea treaty has been sent to the sends by the president. So far as each be carned it was not accompanied. / any secommendation from the president.

Washington, March & —Sir Julian Pauncefote was at the state department Monday in conference with Assistant Secretary Wharton over the details of the Behring sea controversy. Nothing was presented to show that Lord Salisbury is ready to modify the auggestion of a limited zone instead of a renewal of the modus vivendi. There was in fact nothing to show that the situation is less critical, unless the independent talk about the proposition of the British foreign office not being final can be so considered.

The position of the United States, however, is final and definite. It is willing to ratify the arbitration treaty, provided a renewal of the modus vivendi can be assured to protect the seals in the interim before the results of arbitration can be had. If this protection cannot be secured by international agreement with Great Britain this country will undertake to do it alone. There seems to be no difference of opinion in the executive branch of the government that the United States can only consent to ratify the arbitration treaty when the renewal of the modus vivendi is assured.

May Send a Special Message.

Pronounced opinious are heard about the dilatory tactics of Great Britain being in the interest of the seal poachers. At the meeting of the cabinet to-day it is possible that the advisability of the president sending a special message to congress giving all the facts up to date will be discussed. There is a general desire among con-gressmen to have the exact official ut erances of Great Britain before them.

Something of a scare has been at-tempted because Canada is going to place three new cruisers on the upper-lakes in alleged violation of treaty. But the United States is also providing revenue cutters of an improved sort, and neither country's action has any bearing on the seal controversy.
